Contents

Preface xvii

1 Understanding Social Behavior

Social Psychology and the Understanding of Social Behavior 2
- A Model for Understanding Social Behavior 3
- Expanding Lewin’s Model 6

Social Psychology and Related Fields 8

Research in Social Psychology 10
- Experimental Research 12
- Correlational Research 16
- Settings for Social Psychological Research 17
- The Role of Theory in Social Psychological Research 19
- What Do We Learn from Research in Social Psychology? 20
- Ethics and Social Psychological Research 21

Sandy Hook Revisited 24

2 The Social Self

Self-Concept 29
- Self-Knowledge: How Do You Know Thyself? 29
- The Self and Memory 32
- Religion and the Self 34
- The Self: The Influence of Groups and Culture 34

Self-Esteem: Evaluating the Self 42
- Internal Influences on Self-Esteem 42
- Self-Esteem and Stigma 45
- Self-Esteem and Cultural Influences 46
- What’s So Good about High Self-Esteem? 46
- Implicit and Explicit Self-Esteem 47
Self-Control: How People Regulate Their Behavior  48
  Self-Control and Self-Regulation  48
  The Cost and Ironic Effects of Self-Control  50

Thinking about Ourselves  51
  Self-Serving Cognitions  51
  Maintaining Self-Consistency  52

Self-Awareness  53
  Self-Knowledge and Self-Awareness  54

Managing Self-Presentations  55
  Self-Esteem and Impression Management  55
  Self-Monitoring and Impression Management  55
  Self-Presentation and Manipulative Strategies  56
  Self-Handicapping  56

The Impression We Make on Others  58

The Life of Serena Williams Revisited  60

Social Perception: Understanding Other People  63

Automatic and Controlled Processing  65
  Automatic Processing  65
  Controlled Processing  71

Impression Formation  71
  How Accurate Are Our Impressions?  71
  Confidence and Impression Formation  73
  The Importance of First Impressions  74
  Person Perception: Reading Faces and Catching Liars  76

The Attribution Process: Deciding Why People Act As They Do  79
  Heider’s Early Work on Attribution  79
  Correspondent Inference Theory  80
  Covariation Theory  80
  Dual-Process Models  82
  Intentionality and Attributions  84

Attribution Biases  85
  Misattributions  85
  The Fundamental Attribution Error  85
  The Actor-Observer Bias  87
  The False Consensus Bias  88
Schemas 89
Assimilating New Information into a Schema 89
Origins of Schemas 90
The Relationship between Schemas and Behavior 90
Shortcuts to Reality: Heuristics 92

Positive Psychology: Optimism, Cognition, Health, and Life 93
Optimism and Cognition 94
Optimism and Health 94
What Makes Us Happy? 96
Can You Improve Your Level of Optimism? 99
Cognitive Optimism: An Evolutionary Interpretation 99

The Vincennes Revisited 100

4 Prejudice and Discrimination 105

The Dynamics of Prejudice, Stereotypes, and Discrimination 107
Prejudice 107
Stereotypes 110
Stereotype Accuracy and Malleability 114
Discrimination 117

The Persistence and Recurrence of Prejudice and Stereotypes 117

Individual Differences and Prejudice: Personality and Gender 119
The Authoritarian Personality 119
Social Dominance Orientation 121
Openness to New Experience and Agreeableness 122
Other Personality Correlates of Prejudice 123
Gender and Prejudice 123

The Social Roots of Prejudice 124
Explicit and Implicit Prejudice 126
Changing Social Norms 129

The Cognitive Roots of Prejudice: From Categories to Stereotypes 131
Identification with the In-Group 131
The Role of Language in Maintaining Bias 135
System Justification and Prejudice 136
Illusory Correlations 137
The Confirmation Bias 139
The Out-Group Homogeneity Bias 140
The Difference between Prejudiced and Nonprejudiced Individuals 141
Conformity, Compliance, and Obedience 243

Conformity: Going Along with the Crowd 245
  Informational and Normative Social Influence 245
  Social Norms: The Key to Conformity 247
  Classic Studies in Conformity 248
  How Does Social Influence Bring About Conformity? 249

Different Forms of Conformity 252
  Factors That Affect Conformity 253

Minority Influence 258
  Can a Minority Influence the Majority? 258
  Majority and Minority Influence: Two Processes or One? 260

Compliance: Responding to a Direct Request 261
  Foot-in-the-Door Technique 262
  Door-in-the-Face Technique 266
  Compliance Techniques: Summing Up 268

Obedience 269
  Defining Obedience 270
  Destructive Obedience and the Social Psychology of Evil 270
  Milgram’s Experiments on Obedience 275
  The Role of Gender in Obedience 280
  Obedience or Aggression? 280
  Obedience Across Culture, Situation, and Time 281
  Reevaluating Milgram’s Findings 283
  Critiques of Milgram’s Research 284

Disobedience 285
  Breaking with Authority 286
  Reassessing the Legitimacy of the Authority 287
  Strength in Numbers 288

The Jury Room Revisited 290

Group Processes 295

What Is a Group? 297
  Characteristics of Groups 297
  What Holds a Group Together? 298

How and Why Do Groups Form? 298
  Meeting Basic Needs 298
  Roles in Groups 299
How Do Groups Influence the Behavior of Individuals? 300
   The Effects of an Audience on Performance 300
   Group Performance: Conditions That Decrease or Increase Motivation of Group Members 303

Groups, Self-Identity, and Intergroup Relationships 307
   The Power of Groups to Punish: Social Ostracism 308
   Deindividuation and Anonymity: The Power of Groups to Do Violence 311

Group Performance 312
   Individual Decisions and Group Decisions 312
   The Harder the Problem, the Better the Group 314
   The Effect of Leadership Style on Group Decision Making 317

Factors That Affect the Decision-Making Ability of a Group 319
   Group Composition 319
   Group Size 321

The Dynamics of Group Decision Making: Decision Rules, Group Polarization, and Groupthink 322
   Group Decisions: How Groups Blend Individual Choices 323
   Group Polarization 323
   Groupthink 324

The Challenger Explosion Revisited 326

Interpersonal Attraction and Close Relationships 331

The Roots of Interpersonal Attraction and Close Relationships 333
   Affiliation and Intimacy 333

Loneliness and Social Anxiety 334
   Loneliness 334
   Social Anxiety 335

Love and Close Relationships 337
   Love’s Triangle 337
   Types of Love 339
   The Formation of Intimate Relationships 341

Determinants of Interpersonal Attraction 343
   Physical Proximity: Being in the Right Place 343
   Similarity 346
   Physical Attractiveness 347
Dynamics of Close Relationships  355
  Relationship Development  356
  Dating Scripts and Relationship Formation  358
  Evaluating Relationships  359
  Love over Time  362
  Sculpting a Relationship  363
  Responses to Conflict  364
  Love in the Lab  367

Friendships  369
  Gender Differences in Friendships  369
  Friendships over the Life Cycle  370

Gertrude and Alice Revisited  371

10 Interpersonal Aggression  375

What Is Aggression?  376
  Levels and Types of Aggression  377
  Gender Differences in Aggression  378
  Explanations for Aggression  380

Biological Explanations for Aggression  380
  Ethology  380
  Sociobiology  381
  Genetics and Aggression  382
  The Physiology of Aggression  383
  Alcohol and Aggression  385
  Physiology and Aggression: Summing Up  388

The Frustration-Aggression Link  388
  Components of the Frustration-Aggression Sequence  389
  Factors Mediating the Frustration-Aggression Link  390

The Social Learning Explanation for Aggression  393
  The Socialization of Aggression  394
  Aggressive Scripts: Why and How They Develop  395
  The Role of the Family in Developing Aggressive Behaviors  396
  Child Abuse and Neglect  399
  Family Disruption  399
  The Role of Culture in Violent Behavior  400
  The Role of Television in Teaching Aggression  405
  Exposure to Violent Video Games  407
Viewing Sexual Violence: The Impact on Aggression
- The Impact of Sexually Violent Material on Attitudes
- Men Prone to Sexual Aggression: Psychological Characteristics

Reducing Aggression
- Reducing Aggression in the Family
- Reducing Aggression with Cognitive Intervention and Therapy

The Beltway Sniper Case Revisited

11 Prosocial Behavior and Altruism

Why Do People Help?
- Empathy: Helping in Order to Relieve Another’s Suffering
- Empathy and Egoism: Two Paths to Helping
- Pathological Empathy and Altruism
- Biological Explanations: Helping in Order to Preserve Our Own Genes

Helping in Emergencies: A Five-Stage Decision Model
- Stage 1: Noticing the Situation
- Stage 2: Labeling the Situation as an Emergency
- Stage 3: Assuming Responsibility to Help: The Bystander Effect
- Stage 4: Deciding How to Help
- Stage 5: Implementing the Decision to Help

Increasing the Chances of Receiving Help

Courageous Resistance and Heroism
- Explaining Courageous Resistance and Heroism: The Role of Personality
- Righteous Rescuers in Nazi-Occupied Europe
- A Synthesis: Situational and Personality Factors in Altruism

Altruistic Behavior from the Perspective of the Recipient
- Seeking Help from Others
- Reacting to Help When It Is Given

Irene Opdyke Revisited

Social Psychology and the Law:
The Wrongful Conviction of Ronald Cotton 469
   Eyewitness Testimony 470
   Eyewitness Accuracy: Why Are Eyewitnesses Often Wrong? 471
   Weapon Focus 471
   Emotional Experience of the Eyewitness 472
   Eyewitness Memory 473
   The Misinformation Effect 474
   The Jury’s Use of Eyewitness Testimony 475
   Can Eyewitness Testimony Be Improved? Educating Jurors about Eyewitness Testimony 476
   Juries: Group Processes in Action 477
   Conformity Pressure as a Function of Jury Size 478
   Arriving at a Decision 478
   Social Influence in the Jury Room 478
   The Effect of Deliberation on Individual Opinion 479
   Intergroup Bias in Court 479
   Confessions: Are They Always What They Seem? 480
   Summary of This Section 481

The Social Psychology of Work:
Industrial Organizational Psychology 482
   Personnel Selection 482
   Performance Appraisals 484
   Motivation at Work 485
   Organizational Citizenship Behaviors 487

Social Psychology and Health 488
   Perceived Stress and Health 489
   Coping with Stress 492

Glossary G-1
References R-1
Name Index I-1
Subject Index I-17